

Andrew Blauvelt, MD, MBA

President

Oregon Medical Research Center

Portland, Oregon, USA

Andy Blauvelt is President of Oregon Medical Research Center in Portland, Oregon, a private dermatology clinical studies business. He trained in dermatology at the University of Miami and in cellular immunology under the direction of Steve Katz at the National Institutes of Health (NIH). He has held senior staff tenured positions at the NIH, Oregon Health & Science University, and the Portland VA Medical Center. Andy's clinical and research expertise is in immunology, psoriasis, atopic dermatitis, and biologic therapies for complex medical dermatology patients, having published over 300 papers and spoken across the world on these topics.